To the Public.—The Executive Committee of a Union Ferry Company deem it due to themselves and be public to state briefly the facts connected with the revolt of the pilots in their employ, and desertion from duty.

Ou Monday, the 17th, (yesterday.) the following commitation was presented to the Executive Committee by a senson who announced himself to be Mr. James Berger, marrance Broker, acting as agent for the pilots who subsided the paper:

ed the paper :

have unanimously determined to present to you the result of their deliberation, viz.

That they deem it unfair to increase the number of pilots, with a view to decrease, after a time, the pay of those who acquired experience by patient toil; and that we do not feel surselves obligated to become the teachers of new men, although we cannot object to the filling of any real raceincy, by any good men the Company may think proper to select.

That, in view of the high price of rent, of provisions, and other accessaries, and of the fact that many mechanics, who work without exposure, are much better paid than our naives, we would respectfully suggest that our pay should be liberally and fairly equalized upon the different ferries; and this suggestion we submit entirely to the good judgment and discretion of the Fresident and Committee.

To accertain the determination of the company, upon the thresgoing statement, a committee from our body will have the hoor to pay their respects to you on Tuesday, 18th inst. as 10 o'clock, to receive what we hope will be a definite test.

ne good sense of the community for support, did not hesitate as a nument in regard to the course it was proper to purse.

They have resisted such improper dictation, and while ever isposed to deal not only justly, but liberally with the men at their samploy, are determined never to yield to terms rhich would virtually deprive them of proper authority in he management of the ferries.

It may be proper to add, that no intention had ever existed, is charged, of reducing the pay of the pilots, but new men were educated with the view to supply any vacancies which night occur, and in pursuance of a general principle for years arried out in the management of the ferries, of promoting suthful men from subordinate stations to positions of greater must and responsibility, according to their qualifications. More than sue-half of the men who have so unworthly inlated the trust reposed in them, were thus aided by the Ompany, and their pay increased in consequence about one managed per cent. The grerage time of duty is less than his hours per day, and the wages which they have received shown $50 to $65 per month.

Not being aware of the intention of the pilots to abandon her boats this morning unless their demands were complied with, no notice whatever of such intentions having been thought this morning unless their demands were complied with, no notice whatever of such intentions having been there ierries. It is expected that in a day or two a sufficient number of good men will be provided to run the same makes of boats on the ferries as usual.

which interest alike both parents and children; but most especially is it adepted to mothers and daughters. Parents who permit the visits of known rones—parents who train up their daughters in total or partial ignorance of the mares, dangers and realities of the world, as if they were never intended nor expected to mingle in its trials and its changes, as if they were never to share in its disappointments and its strifes, as if they were never to some in its disappointments and its strifes, as if they were never to come in collision with its temptations, as if they were never to remain children always and become wives and mothers never, will find in the vivid pages of Kate Penrose how erroneous is their educational system, which affects to prepare they daughters for the world, and yet which leaves them, as they step upon the threshold of the world, weak and ignorant as little children, and easy victims to the first designing fatterer that comes along. Price 25 cents.
